Boycott Extended To Essen District

TURKS GIVE 3-DAY EXTENSION

Situation in Ruhr Grows More Tense as General DeGoutte Issues Warning to Germans—One Clash Reported.

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, Feb. 12.—A Central News dispatch from Berlin says two French soldiers and one German were killed in a clash at Gelsenkirchen in the Ruhr today when German soldiers halted a motor car containing French soldiers.

(By The Associated Press)
DUESSELDORF, Feb. 12.—Reports that the Germans are organizing a general strike at Herne not far from Bochum, have led to the despatch of French tanks there. The Germans are boycotting the forces of occupation throughout the Heine district and the French have been obliged to take over police work.

The boycott is becoming more and more popular and the German have decided to extend it to Essen refusing to do business with the French and Belgians. Continuing the result of the first month of occupation, General DeGoutte told the correspondent that Germany is "branding a quitter before the entire world." "But I solemnly warn Germany," he continued, "that if a single one of my soldiers is harmed and we are forced into another battle she will not stay out hand by crying 'kame-ra-dé.' It will be a fight to the finish, a complete knockout."

The general expressed the opinion that Germany would not fight until she believed herself stronger than her adversary. "The moment she feels an opponent is more powerful than she, she surrenders," he said. "She pleads and begged for an armistice under circumstances in which the allies would have considered they had just begun to fight."

General DeGoutte declared that France sought redress rather than the economic destruction of Germany as charged by Cuno.

Farmer's Confession Clears Up Robbery
Story From Pittsylvania Gives Sidelight on the Bloodhound Theory.

That trained bloodhounds are not by any means infallible is revealed in a story which has just come to light at Dry Fork in Pittsylvania county where a store robbery which took place over a year ago and which resulted in suspicion being lodged against a colored man being entirely dissipated by the confession of one of the thieves, against whom no action will be taken.

In January of last year, the store of J. H. Jones at Dry Fork was broken into during the night and a quantity of merchandise was stolen. Discovery on the following day resulted in a pair of blood hounds being sent to the scene of the robbery and the dogs lost no time in striking a trail which led a mile or more to the cabin of a negro. There the dogs stopped and began baying. The police of farmers following the dogs came to the conclusion that the negro was the thief and despite his urgent protestations of innocence the cabin was searched but none of the stolen goods were found. The evidence of the dogs was all that was to be secured and there was an entire absence of corroborative testimony. The case was therefore dropped.

"Coincidence" has been in progress at Dry Fork for several days and a good many farmers are said to have become converted. One night last week a man of the Dry Fork community whose name has not been revealed went to the home of Mr. Jones, called him out and made a complete confession of the robbery. He said that he had been converted at the revival but that his conscience smote him and that he felt that he should clear his mind of the offense. The unnamed man said that he and another confederate, whose name he did not give, broke into the store and had robbed it. He said further, that he declared that when the bloodhounds reached the place he was with the posse which ran behind the dogs. He was smoking some of the cigarettes which had been stolen from the store at the time. The confessor expressed a desire to return to the home of the goods and also to pay for the cost of the bloodhounds. His principal request, however, was that Jones should go to the home of the dog owner who has been under suspicion for a year, notwithstanding the dropping of the proceedings and to let him know that the robbery had been cleared up and that he was no longer under suspicion. This was done without further delay. Jones now hopes that the second man will come forward and make known his identity. The storekeeper has accepted the confession in the spirit in which it was given and against the unnamed man.

Swanson Thinks Bill Will Pass

NEWPORT NEWS, Feb. 11.—Senator Swanson, of Virginia, is of the opinion that the ship subsidy bill will pass the Senate by a majority of 2. He expressed himself to this effect to a press representative in Washington. Mr. Swanson also said that the bill had a better chance of coming to a vote than he had at one time supposed, as the appropriation bills and other measures ahead of it had been disposed of sooner than had been expected. True the English debt question must first engage the attention of Congress, but that need not necessarily prevent the ship subsidy bill from reaching the voting stage, and unless there is a filibuster, the ship subsidy measure will probably be voted on before the close of the session on March 3.

Friends of the merchant marine bill have hopes that Senator Patterson, of Ohio, and Senator Gerry, of Rhode Island, will vote for it but Senator Swanson thinks not. He says the only Democratic senators who will vote in the affirmative are Louis Brandeis and Brewster of Louisiana, but with all other Democrats voting against the bill, in Mr. Swanson's opinion it will still have a majority of two.

Both of the Virginia Senators will vote against the bill, although they will not try to prevent it from coming to a vote.

The president is insisting that the Senate dispose of the measure one way or the other. In his address to the Senate he appealed for decisive action, saying that the Congress owed that much to itself, to the executive branch of the government and to the American people.

Some of the Democrats in opposition agree with the President to that extent, at least.

N. W. Berkeley. Died On Sunday

Profound shock was sensed throughout Danville Sunday morning when the announcement was made in the city churches that Nelson William Berkeley, a former widely known and generally beloved citizen had died in the General Hospital early on Sunday morning.

While it was generally known that Mr. Berkeley, who for the past two or three years had lived in Charlottesville, had been a patient at the hospital few realized that his condition of recent days had become acutely critical. Mr. and Mrs. Berkeley came here shortly before Christmas to spend the holidays among the many people with whom they enjoyed mutual attachments and it was while they were at the Leeland Hotel that Mr. Berkeley became ill. A small growth on his neck had assumed menacing proportions and despite prompt medical treatment blood-poison developed, which gradually seeped into his system, causing a slow wasting of strength. It was Mr. Berkeley's condition was regarded by his physicians as critical. The succeeding days saw the final struggle between bleeding vitality and the persistent malady. For the few days prior to his death he had remained in a state of coma.

The funeral of Mr. Berkeley will be conducted at three o'clock this afternoon from Epiphany church, of which he was a devoted member. The service will be in charge of Rev. J. H. H. Hall, D. D., and Rev. Nobell C. Howell, of St. Paul's church, University of Virginia, where Mr. Berkeley held his membership at the time of death. Interment will be made in Green Hill cemetery.

No record of Mr. Berkeley's long and useful life in Danville would be proper without emphasizing his association with the Danville Traction and Power Company, which he so well represented. He was superintendent for the company for thirty-three years, being the first in that capacity in 1887 and remaining until 1920. During that time he was a member of the board of directors, a position of great responsibility. He was a devoted member of the Epiphany church, of which he was a member for many years. Four Stills Are Found Running Near Mt. Valley

(Special to The Bee)
MARTINSVILLE, Va., Feb. 12.—One of the largest raids made in Henrico County for several months was undertaken by Sheriff Turner and a posse of officers yesterday in the Mountain Valley section where four stills were found in full operation. By some means the operatives had evaded the impending trap and all four stills were deserted when the raid was made. They were, however, all running showing that the operators had had to make a speedy departure. The stills were of from 200 to 500 gallon capacity. Eighteen barrels of mash was poured out, 1,100 pounds of sugar and 50 bushels of liquor was seized while over 100 gallons of liquor were found in the tanks.

Bishop Tucker Is Named Professor

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 12.—The Rt. Rev. H. St. George Tucker, D. D., bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Kentucky, today was chosen to succeed his brother, Dr. Beverly D. Tucker, Jr., as professor of pastoral theology at the Theological Seminary of Virginia Alexandria. Bishop Tucker has resigned his bishopric in Kentucky but will return to Japan to take part in the readjustment of the work of the mission field consequent upon his resignation. He will return to America in time to assume his duties at the seminary at the opening of the session next October.

It is understood that the resignation of Bishop Tucker is caused by the health of members of his family, which made this step imperative. Bishop Tucker has been called "The Missionary Statesman of the East" and it is felt that his acceptance of the position at the seminary will bring to that institution a wealth of scholastic and international view of Christian obligations.

Bishop Tucker was born at Walsaw, Va. July 16, 1874, and is the son of Dr. Wiley Dandridge Tucker. He got his M. A. at the University of Virginia in 1895, and was graduated from the Theological Seminary of Virginia in 1899. He was made deacon and ordained the Protestant Episcopal church in 1900, and in the same year was sent as a missionary to Japan and later placed in charge of the Episcopal missions in Oomori Prefecture in 1902. He was made president of St. Paul's College, Tokio after which he was made bishop of the diocese of Kyoto. He married Miss Mary Lillian Warwick, of Atlanta, Ga., in 1912. In addition to his Episcopal membership he is a Pi Kappa Alpha and author of "Reconciliation Through Christ" (1910). During the war he served with the American Red Cross in Siberia with a commission of major and was in charge of the civilian refugee work. His address has been Kaasumarduri, Japan, but he now is in Virginia on leave and has been spending much of the winter in Norfolk with his father, Bishop Beverly D. Tucker, of the diocese of Southern Virginia. It has been understood that Bishop St. George Tucker has been called to consider leaving his field in Japan, but has been induced to accept a professorship in America not only because of the opportunity presented, but because the health of his family requires that he should remain permanently in Japan.

FAIL TO AGREE ON VACCINATION

DAYTON, Ky., Feb. 9.—Residents of Dayton are divided over the vaccination question. This condition of affairs was revealed last night at the trial of Gordon Speth, Cincinnati optician, who was charged with "willfully interfering with a public health officer." Mr. Speth was arrested last Saturday, following his opposition to compulsory vaccination law. The trial resulted in a disagreement of the jury, after being out until midnight. It was later said that two jurors were for conviction and four for acquittal.

Three other Dayton parents, Mrs. P. Hatfield, Charles Sealey and Mrs. George Vogel, are yet to be tried on similar charges.

Crowded Courtroom.
So keen was the interest in the case that the authorities found it necessary to engage the Knights of Pythias Hall to hold the trial. A thousand citizens of this small community crowded into it. In the audience were the parents of many of the 120 pupils who have been barred from the Dayton schools for refusing to be vaccinated. Applause greeted statements made by some of the witnesses. Some of the audience, based on Miss P. H. Fokes, teacher, whose insistence on keeping the Speth child out of the class brought the matter to a focus.

Thomas Root, attorney for the defendant, demanded a jury. The prosecution was represented by Hubbard Schwartz, city attorney, Judge C. W. Youngblut, for the Board of Education, and Conrad Matz, county attorney, for the State. The testimony brought out the facts that last Friday Mr. Speth had remonstrated with Miss Fokes against the expulsion of his son from school, that she had called P. J. Hamlett, principal of the Dayton High School.

Superintendent Testifies.
R. H. Brown, superintendent of the Dayton public schools, the first witness, told about receiving a communication from the County Board of Health, instructing the School Board to enforce the law for compulsory vaccination. He also read a communication from County Attorney Matz to the effect that, under instructions from C. W. Shaw, county health officer, criminal proceedings would be instituted against the Board of Education for failure to comply with the law.

Miss Fokes told about notifying Professor Hamlett of the actions of the defendant when he accompanied his son to school last Friday. She said that when she told him she had orders from Superintendent Brown and Principal Hamlett to exclude all unvaccinated children from the schools, he asked that both of them be sent for, saying, "I can handle them both."

Principal Hamlett testified that after taking a revolver from his drawer in the high school office, he went down to the annex to settle the disturbance. He said Mr. Speth asked him if he was going to eject his son. Hamlett said he was and proceeded to place his hand on the shoulder of the lad and then drew the weapon in self defense.

Gordon Speth, the defendant, denied he made any threats.

Murder Of Bella Lemons So Solved; 17 Are Arrested

(By The Associated Press)
BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 10.—The murder of Bella Lemons, whose body was found near the Holling Road Golf club July 13, has been solved according to the police, by the arrest of 17 members of a blackhand gang. A recruit in the gang, the police said, committed the crime after it was ordered by leaders because the woman killed one of them.

With 17 persons under arrest here and in Paducah and Clarkburg, W. Va., police are after two more members of the gang. Six other members, according to the police, are charged with aiding them, and a police captain has evidence of a score of dynamiting and murdering plans.

Tatsy Corbi was arrested here at his home in Westport, where he and his parents conduct an ice cream stand. Corbi surrendered to the police after the crime and challenged them to hold him. They let him go but never stopped watching him. Other arrests were made in Paducah.

Angelo Bunn, known as "Big Angelo," fairmont; Richard Ferri, alleged Paducah bootlegger, Gus Jurg, a fairmont barber, Philip Canearo, called "Big Nose Phil" of Clarkburg, alleged bootlegger and agent for the gang; Joe Seig, an Italian business man of fairmont said to be a gang leader; Philip Niccoli, barber of fairmont; Nick Melanandi, shoemaker in fairmont and alleged agent of the gang; John Leceese, known as "Little John," alleged bootlegger and agent of the gang in Clarkburg; Joe Backus, called "Joe Backus," of Clarkburg; Cagliastro, Frank Barberman, Tony Musci and John Treco.

Rosario Dimarco, the "Big Rosie" with the diamonds in his shirt and the police declare the gang planned to "arrest" him and to start by killing him.

The last they heard from him (Big Rosie) was in Chicago. He was not hiding from the police, but was in the gang and three weeks ago when he had $15,000, he was building a new kingdom for himself in the Chicago underworld, they got him.

Chief of Police L. D. Snyder and Frank Amos, state's attorney in fairmont, with Laco Wolfe, the police chief of Clarkburg and John Shier, a Clarkburg detective acted for the West Virginia authorities late last week the trap was sprung.

Not a man of the gang seemed to know what he was arrested for. None of them worried. They thought, so the police say, that they were being locked up for little bootlegging jobs or for gambling.

SERIES OF MURDERS HAS COME TO END
(By The Associated Press)
CLARKSBURG, Feb. 10.—A series of murders and dynamitings covering a period of two and one-half years in Clarkburg and Fairmont, West Virginia, and Uniontown, Pa., has been terminated by the arrest of nine men in this region and two in the Pennsylvania C. C. Clarkburg police officials announced tonight. Other arrests have been made at Baltimore and Lancaster in connection with the case, which the police officials described as "a black hand reign of terror."

The men held in the county jail were arrested at Fairmont and in this city. The special charge against them is the murder of Jimmy Papara, alias Jimmy Laid, who was killed three weeks ago tonight. Word of the arrest was spread from the public until the police had rounded up all suspects.

According to the police they obtained written statements from a number of the gang members, clearing up several murders and dynamitings and plots to kill well known residents of Clarkburg and Fairmont, including the chief of police of the cities. Among the names in these statements, the police said, included:

The murder of Bella Lemons, fairmont girl whose body was found in a ditch near Baltimore.

Shooting of Angelo Cambria, Uniontown, a banker.

Murders of John Lavaca, Clarkburg, a taxi driver, "Big Joe" Cente of Clarkburg, Rocco Vergilions of fairmont.

Among those marked for death, police said, were the Rev. T. E. Garner and Chiefs of Police Wolfe and L. D. Snyder.

Play Directing a Profession.
Not only are cities spending more money for playgrounds and play equipment than ever before but they are employing more trained men and women to direct the play.

Over 600 paid directors were employed last year in the 502 cities covered by the report of the Playground and Recreation Association. An active superintendent of recreation is to be found in almost every phase of the city's life. He is the first lieutenant to the health officer, the chief of police and to the judge of the juvenile court.

Public Recreation Cheap
"It is cheaper by far to pay taxes for municipal recreation than to buy expensive commercial recreation, and play is thereby made available for all." Says J. P. Nash, superintendent of Recreation, Oakland, Calif.

RECREATION IN LARGER CITIES

(DR. R. W. GARNETT)

Cities all over the country are recognizing as never before the responsibility of providing their people with opportunities for wholesome recreation. Proof of this may be found in looking at their budgets. Five hundred and two cities reported their activities last year to the Playground and Recreation Association of America. In these 502 cities nearly nine million dollars was spent on playgrounds and recreation, an increase of one and a half million over 1920. Detroit spent nearly $270,000 on play last year, 110,000 more than the year before. Memphis, Tenn., considered a swimming pool so necessary to the welfare of its people that it appropriated $10,000 for one.

What a Few Cities Have Done:
Hartford Conn., with 1400 acres in parks and playgrounds provides for all classes and all ages. There is tennis and golf, baseball, bowling on the green and boating on the lake. There is dancing in the summer evenings on a big outdoor platform which on Sunday afternoon is used for dancing. Bands of hikers are furnished a nature guide. The amateur gardening enthusiast is provided space and information as to how to make his crops grow.

In the city of Detroit, the little girls who want to play house with their dolls. There is space for the old folk who want to be quiet and neighborly out in the open.

Mr. Staples stands well in Stuart. It is said, and has been strongly endorsed for the place.

Foreign Policy Satirized By the Gridiron Club

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—American foreign policy was poked over the coals in satirical vein at tonight's mid-Winter dinner of the Gridiron Club of Washington. Several hundred guests, among them authors, artists and cartoonists, mingled with states and diplomats and leaders of finance and industry enjoying the fun.

A series of stunts, musical and otherwise, the club members after braving the dangerous field of foreign entanglement, ran rough-shod over national domestic affairs and irreverently dragged those who sit in high places over the coals.

With its usual spirit of reciprocity however, the club gave a selected few of the guests, including President Harding, an opportunity to get even in brief speeches, but these, under the club's tradition and rule that "reporters are never present," may not be made public.

Among the guests were President Harding, Secretaries Weeks, Denby and Houston, Attorney General Daugherty, Don Gelsio Caelan, Italian Ambassador, Uncle Joe Cannon, Gillette, Will H. Hayes, Augustus Thomas, and Governors Pinchot of Pennsylvania and Silver of New Jersey.

Early on the American foreign policy was presented in the Arabian Nights entertainment, introduced with the darkening of the room and the crash of cymbals of stage. The High went up to reveal that the Golden Gridiron, Commander of the Mithril Mda Caliph of Bagdad-on-the-Potomac, had reincarnated and had set up his court.

Appearing accompanied by Whozzitt, his grand vizier, premier and minister of foreign affairs, he was advised by the vizier, that his first consideration should be the formation of a head of foreign affairs bureau, of a head of foreign affairs bureau, of public information and press relations.

"All successful diplomacy is mysterious," said the vizier. "Our foreign policy must be incomprehensible except to ourselves. But we must have open diplomacy, so that every one can understand his incomprehensible it is a press agent is the front door-keeper of open diplomacy."

Hazzan Said, thereupon was appointed to the post, he having qualified by declaring that he was "born in the happy valley, Ohio."

Next came the appointment of an unofficial observer, which post went to All-Bia-Bia, the possessor of the Magic 8-8-glass.

It was explained that an unofficial observer is "a back door diplomat" who "represents us in company where we would not be seen ourselves. We advise him of our views. He goes and tells them to the other side. He comes back to us and tells us what we told him to say, and he does not mean it that way. So we forgive him. He is always about to be withdrawn. We must never go into anything. We are always coming out. That is the reason for the unofficial observer. He goes in, and that lets us out."

Senators Borah and Reed of Missouri, represented by club members, insisted on participating in the affair. The senator from Missouri, Reed, was angry because he declared All-Bia-Bia was "nothing but a book agent for the league of Nations."

We are just formulating our foreign policy," began the high official, "and my declaration, I am against it."

The minister of marine, Inbad, the Sailor, whose last name is Sims and Alaska, possessor of the wonderful lamp, contributed to the presence. The court of the unofficial observer. He goes in, and that lets us out."

Doubt Shrouds Ultimate Fate Of Ship Bill

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—With Congress adjourning also die at the end of another three weeks, the troubles of the much harassed administration shipping bill have been multiplied so that even its friends said tonight that its ultimate fate was shrouded in increased doubt.

Several new plans of attack upon the bill were laid today and a compromise move among Republicans desiring drastic amendments was instituted at a conference with President Harding at the White House. Senator McNary, Republican, Oregon, author of several amendments modifying the subvention and other provisions of the bill, together with several other Senators, discussed a compromise plan with the President but action went over until next week when Chairman Lasker of the Shipping Board is to be consulted.

In the Senate during the day administration forces won a preliminary victory when they were able by a vote of 31 to 26, to order that the Senate meet earlier than usual next Monday resuming the consideration of the bill. Seven Republican opponents of the Shipping bill voted with the Democrats against the proposal but the total was hailed by administration Senators as a harbinger of strength if they could bring the bill to a vote.

Administration leaders claimed 53 pledges for the bill but some of these were said to favor radical amendments. Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, today after another speech of nearly five hours by Senator Fletcher, Democrat, Florida, against the bill, Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, the administration manager, said that he proposed another agreement to critical debate in an effort to bring about a vote. Under the plan each Senator would be limited after February 16 to one hour on the bill and thirty minutes on amendments. If the bill should not be passed, a still sharper limit would become effective February 20. Opponents of the measure indicated they would refuse unanimous consent for such an agreement when it is brought up for action Monday.

Another Senator Jones' program contemplates holding the bill continuously before the Senate until February 20 at least. Senators in charge of the British debt funding bill reported to the Senate today from committee that they would move to bring it up early next week, probably Tuesday or Wednesday. This move is expected to have the opposition of Senator Jones, who for many years has been an ardent supporter of the bill and said once more the shipping bill would virtually be defeated.

Early Blooming Spring Millinery Promises Flower Season in Hats

BY MARION HALE
(Copyright, 1923, By The Bee)

THE new spring hats, blossoming profusely in midwinter, are characterized by their infinite variety. To exploit any one shape or style above another is impossible, since big, little and medium-sized hats are all represented in the fashion pageant.

Their predominant trait is their simplicity—that is, simplicity of line. The favored type of adornment for the moment is the big ribbon or lace bow that may be placed directly in front, on either side, in the back or under the brim. These bows, however, conceal a great deal of art in their folds. The tying of a smart bow is not for the novice.

Straw or Silk.

Many hats are of straw or silk in soft shapes, entirely covered with embroidery in silk or wool. Flowers of crocheted wool and of leather on crowns and brims.

This evidently is to be a flower season. Many small cloche shapes have the brim composed of small flowers, while others decorate the crown profusely with petals and join it to a wide brim of silk or straw.

Rosettes of silk or ribbon are a youthful form of trimming—so is the bandanna kerchief, tied loosely about the crown, with the ends tucked under or flowing off at the side.

Brown and Tan.

Most of the small hats one sees are highly colored. Almond and Nile green, Alice blue, orange and the light shades of brown and tan are exceedingly popular.

When the all-black hat is seen usually it is the large picture type or a tailored affair, trimmed with a small ribbon bow or with feathers. Some of the most recent Paris importations are entirely untrimmed—their style and chic lying in their lines.

The earliest hats are of combination fabric and straw. The felt hat, so popular during the winter, is also popular for spring.

WELL ORGANIZED NOW

The Interdenominational Missionary Union of Danville is now a well organized institution, with some of the best equipped women of the different churches as leaders. "Christ the Light of the World," will be the subject for discussion at the next meeting, which will be at the Episcopal church Friday February 16th at 4:15 p. m. All women are invited to this service of "praises and prayer."

AIR TRAFFIC HEAVY

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Feb. 10.—Captain A. E. Simpson reports 450 airplanes landing at Langley field here during the last ten months and says traffic will be double in the Spring. The field is midway of the Dayton-Washington route.

Mrs. W. Dan Cooper, who was again opened upon at Edmunds Hospital Wednesday, is reported as greatly improving.

Mrs. K. P. Bass is spending some time with Mrs. Ralph Baker in Roanoke.

The coming season will see femininity wearing hats like these. At the upper left is shown an effective use of the bandanna drape. Upper right illustrates a becoming flower arrangement. At the center is a smart piece of millinery with the popular bow trimming. At the lower left is a silk hat with leather applique design.

AIR PATROLS FLY OVER RUHR

(By The Associated Press)

DUESSELDORF, Feb. 10.—Air patrols began flying over the Ruhr today, watching the various coke and coal control posts and the movement of trains in the direction of the frontiers. The French have completed the installation of an air defense net. Dueseldorf and airmen will inspect the entire occupation frontiers daily.

The French are slowly improving the railroad service. The movement of cars entering the Ruhr yesterday increased to 2,800 and 1,600 departed. This is about one-twentieth of the normal service.

The municipal authorities have forbidden the population to accept soup from the French free kitchens. The burgomaster of Bochum informed the French that these kitchens were not necessary, that the Germans were well able to take care of themselves and that in any event "should famine come to the Ruhr" owing to French occupation, the Americans had promised to organize a relief commission.

Pershing's Men Slowly Passing Off the Stage

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Men who shared with Pershing the great adventure in France are passing off the stage as America's defenders. Official charts show that their place already is being taken by the younger brothers of the A. E. F. Tomorrow it will be their sons who stand ready to fight for the flag. The charts show that more than 3,000,000 men discharged from the war time army up to January 1, 1920, there will be available in 1925 for class one service, and that means little service, but to face with the foe—little more than 6,000,000 veterans. By 1930, a decade after their discharge in the prime of their fighting power only 423,900 will again be ready to shoulder muskets. Millions, trooped to the colors in the great war, but even the 18 year old youngsters among them will be men weighted with cares and responsibilities by 1945. They will have married or will have acquired other dependents, they will be broken with years; many will have died; some will be working at tasks as essential as soldiering, and none will be left to man the trenches. The bright day of their youth and fighting power will be but an honored heritage for their sons.

"Of the 3,128,670 officers and men examined for discharge to December 1, 1919," say the colorless records of the War Department, "2,291,959 were discharged without disability." It is assumed that by 1925 or approximately five years after discharge, they will have attained the status (having acquired dependents, engaged in essential occupations, incurred disabilities, etc.) of average citizens and would be available (held for service) in the same proportions as obtained with these registered under the last draft.

Application of the Census Bureau death rate, coupled with the knowledge gained of average condition and roundings its age groups involved by the calling up for examination under the draft act of millions of citizens, gives a clear vision of what time is doing to the great body of trained soldiers poured back into the country after the armistice. That is the basis of the War Department calculations as to probable exemptions and the basis too, to the pressure for filling up the organized reserves with new blood each year into an unending reservoir of fighting strength, at least partially ready to answer the call to arms.

By age groups, the veterans above 26 years in 1918 will have ceased to exist, from a military viewpoint in 1925 and of more than 135,000 in the 26 year class, some 20,000 might still be ready for a call. By 1930 all those above 33 years in 1918 will be gone and by 1935 all who were above 38 years in 1918 have vanished from the charts. By 1940, the youngsters who were 23 years old when 1918 brought them to the colors will show a bare 22,000 still ready for active service and by 1945, the 18 year-olds of those heroic days of war could muster probably only 5,316 veterans of St. Mihiel and the Argonne to follow the flag again.

SALVATION ARMY WANTS TO MAKE WAR ON DRUGS

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The Salvation Army formally called upon the Federation of Churches of Christ of America today to join it in a concerted movement toward the elimination of the increasing devastation of the drug habit and the redemption of the million or more addicts in the United States.

Commissioner Thomas Estlin, of New York, head of the Salvation Army activities in eastern and southern states, sent the invitation at the request of an annual convention of the eastern service division now in session here. "The Salvation Army," he declared, "has proved in its own experience that the Christian religion is the only safe and sure and permanent cure for the habit and that all Christian people, therefore, should have a sense of personal responsibility in this crisis."

PREMIER BONAR LAW TO PRESENT OWN VIEWPOINT

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Premier Bonar Law will return to the House of Commons Tuesday well prepared, according to official circles to withstand the smoking out process to which his government is likely to be subjected owing to three months of sensational events at home and abroad.

The domestic program of the season will be largely concerned with unemployment, housing and agriculture relief, interspersed with debates on foreign relations, which are likely to be initiated when the virile labor opposition agitators for the withdrawal of the British troops on the Rhine.

Developments in the Ruhr continue to strengthen the official view that the French policy is hopeless and there seems likelihood that any pressure by the laborites will immediately affect the government movements with respect to the Rhine. The intimidation from official circles is that the presence of the British at Cologne depends largely upon the attitude at Paris and so long as the French accept the policy of benevolent neutrality the troops will remain as a steady force between the French and the Germans.

FRENCH OCCUPY 720,131 ACRES

(By The Associated Press)

ESSEN, Feb. 10.—The area now occupied by the French and Belgians in the Ruhr aggregates approximately 720,131 acres, or nearly the size of Rhode Island, according to figures announced in German quarters. The population of this area is 1,177,537 which compares with the population of Massachusetts and Michigan.

The military forces hold 14 cities and rural districts. The total railway mileage in the Ruhr is 1,242 kilometers, of which two lines are militarized.

CONTROL OF C. P. BY S. P. UPHELD

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The application of the Southern Pacific Company to retain its present control of the Central Pacific Railroad by ownership of its stock and lease of its lines was granted today in full by a decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Although the Supreme Court in 1922, at the end of eleven years of litigation over the existing merger of the roads held them to be a combination in restraint of competition and ordered them separated, the maintained union was necessary in the interests of the western states they traverse and the country as a whole.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Feb. 10.—Explorations in Egypt and Palestine in search of long lost manuscripts that may have important bearings on the history of the Hebrew religion are to be financed, wholly or in part by a trust fund established by Mrs. Abby Beecher Longyear, of this town.

Already one expedition, largely supported by the Zion Research Foundation, as the endowment has been named, is seeking original manuscripts in the Nubian desert, of Egypt and at the site of the ancient monastery on Mt. Sinai. Valuable papyrus has been secured through Professor Francis Kelsey, of the University of Michigan, and the fund is being administered by the American School of Archaeology in Jerusalem also is a beneficiary of the Longyear trust.

The study of the beginnings of religion, especially the Hebrew belief, and its development has been pursued for many years by Mrs. Longyear and the subject engrossed the attention of her husband, John Munro Longyear, for several years before his death. Both can be said to believe that the keys to some of the apparent mysteries of the past concerning the Hebrews were to be found in Egypt and its ancient monuments as well as in the land beyond the Red Sea—the Jordan, the Tigris and the Caucasus.

Three of the five trustees of the Foundation have been selected. They are Mrs. John M. Longyear, Frederick F. Burrill and James F. Lord. A statement issued by the trustees says: "The primary purpose of this trust foundation, which already has been provided with large resources, is to facilitate and advance research into the origin of the Hebrew religion and to promote more general study of that subject and its application to human needs. The means which are being adopted for carrying out the general purposes of the trust include the collection of source books, translated manuscripts and other material bearing upon the origin and development of religious thought based upon the Bible.

"One of the objects of this foundation is to have important source books in foreign languages, bearing on the subject of the Holy Scriptures, translated into English, and also to assist in the translation into English of whatever is available of the writings of the early Christian Fathers.

"About two years ago an arrangement was made with Sir Ernest Wallis Budge, the distinguished director of the division of Egyptian and Assyrian antiquities of the British museum, whose co-operation and advice has been of the greatest value, to assist those representing the foundation in America in the creation and establishment of a library of what may be described as original Scriptural sources."

America Sets On Foods

LONDON, Feb. 10.—An encouraging forecast for improved British trade in 1923 is made by Felix J. Blakemore, president of the National Chamber of Trade.

"I am convinced that our industrial conditions will improve," Mr. Blakemore writes, "and while paying due regard to the importance of our present European markets and their present stagnant condition, the prospects of a greatly increased trade with our overseas dominions, crown colonies and dependencies are distinctly reassuring. It will be remembered that early this year our overseas dominions floated large loans in London for purposes of development. These were mostly oversubscribed, and now that the schemes are maturing, large orders for plant and machinery are being placed in Great Britain which will gradually expand as the work proceeds.

"The foreign markets of the world—other than the United States—are increasingly open to the inquiries for British goods, due in the main to the failure of Germany to execute orders, and also somewhat to the raising of the United States tariff wall by the passing of the Fordney Tariff Bill. If only we can reduce our costs of production, and therefore our prices, we shall be able rapidly to convert these inquiries into orders."

Mr. Blakemore predicts that cost of production will be reduced by a fall of 6 points in the living price about March, and a further considerable reduction 12 months hence. This is based on the expectation of the value of the pound sterling in America, "which will enable American produce to be reduced in price to the consumer, and America is so important a factor in the supply of food goods to this country, that American prices of food rapidly become world prices.

"The increased food supplies, together with appreciation of sterling values, will undoubtedly bring cheaper goods to the consumer, and if, by reducing the cost of living, it does not immediately reduce production cost of manufactured goods, it will at once increase the purchasing power of the British public and so stimulate the home demand for the goods we make."

COMMUNITY WELFARE APPEAL

The Community Welfare Association yesterday made an appeal for an old bed which is needed by a woman who, unaided, is called upon to support five children. An additional request was made for old spectacle frames for children in need of glasses. Further details will be supplied upon application to the director of the Association.

CERTAIN RELIEF FOR INDIGESTION

Indigestion and its attendant ills such as dyspepsia, heart-burn, sour stomach, griping pains, dysentery, diarrhoea, colic, cholera morbus, chronic constipation, gas, etc., and even sick, nervous headaches are directly traceable to disorders in the digestive organs and can now be quickly relieved with new, certain, safe, "Anti-Ferment," originated by a druggist and recommended by physicians.

The food we eat before it is fully digested, thus putting into solution toxic poisons that are absorbed into the system, irritating the intestines and setting up inflammation. To avoid this, you simply have to prevent fermentation by using Anti-Ferment. The acid condition of the stomach, cleanses and sweetens the bowels, soothes and heals the inflamed intestines and increases the speed of the digestive process, giving quick and certain relief. Get a bottle of Anti-Ferment from your druggist with a guarantee of satisfaction. It will improve your appetite, give you restful sleep and make you feel better than ever before. —adv.

W. & L. FRESH FIVE DEFEATS DANVILLE QUINT

Saturday the Municipal floor was the scene of one of the hardest fought games that has been seen in Danville for a long time. The Washington and Lee "Fresh" team, which was the floor confident of victory, but they did not know of the hard fight awaited them. The referee's whistle blew and the ball was tossed up and the game was on. Little, the "Little General" center, had a slight edge on the jump, and the ball was in the hands of W. & L. But the locals were hard upon their opponents and, having fought for a few minutes they brought it up the floor and Farley cased the ball. But W. & L. was not to be fooled, and they again worked the ball down the floor for a goal.

Then, the two teams played neck in neck for awhile. With the aid of two throw fouls, Danville forged ahead. But the "Little General" came back and crept steadily ahead. The locals were not ready to give up, however, and they fought as never before. W. & L. players, with the aid of a number of long shots, increased their lead, still, at the end of the first half they were well ahead.

Score, Danville 7, W. & L. 13. The second half the locals began with a snap. It seemed as if they were staging a come-back but the "Little Generals" shot a goal, and from then on the High School held their own and cut down their lead. But it was a fight to the finish and until the last whistle blew, D. H. S. was playing real ball. The W. & L. team was in the lead and the game was on.

Danville 15; W. & L. 22.

For the locals Campbell and Franklin were the stars. For W. & L. Little and Wilson.

The line-up follows:

Danville: W. & L. Farley, R. F. Taylor, L. F. Ler, C. Campbell, R. G. Franklin, L. G.

For Danville substitutes Morgan for Franklin, Winkler for Morgan, For W. & L. substitutes Carroll, Referee, Savage, Timekeeper, L. Wilson, Scorer, Carter and P. Wilson.

PATRIOTS SIGN UP SEVEN PLAYERS

GREENSBORO, N. C., Feb. 10.—Seven men in addition to the manager have already signed contracts with the Greensboro Baseball Club, indicating that the Greensboro team is to start with a fast high on the field.

He worked with the Asheville club of the Western North Carolina League last season, after being farmed out by Carroll, manager of the Patriots.

Vardaman, who is a protégé of Bill Pierce, has also signed. He is a pitcher. Pierce speaks very highly of Vardaman.

Tommy Magrann, shortstop, secured in a trade from Durham, is another man who is safely corralled. Carroll visited Magrann at the latter's home in Philadelphia recently.

Another signer is Trot, catcher and general utility man, who was with Greensboro while last season. He will take the place of the late Sessions who has retired to Raleigh, along with O'Quinn, for Bill Allen and Eddie Winston.

Krause, infielder, was signed in a trip Carroll made to Philadelphia. Harris, a Guilford leaguer, and Long, an Eastern North Carolina Leaguer, fill out the list. Both are outfielders.

Contracts will not be sent to vets who played with Greensboro last year until some time.

Plans for His Own Death

BY EDWARD LHERRY

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—"Death may be invoked at will. A healthy person may set his death date, and actually die then."

That is the conclusion of Emilie Coue, an apostle of auto-suggestion, as well as of eminent psychologists. All agree in opinions given NEA Service regarding the strange case of Dr. William Rouse, of Bath, Me., who says he is going to die Feb. 20—42 days before his 77th birthday—because his mother and grandfather died under similar circumstances.

Death by auto-suggestion is the way three men diagnose the Rouse case. The fourth, a destructive chemical action in the body created by emotions.

Here are the opinions of the Rouse death prophecy.

EMILIE COUE, author of "Self-Mastery by Conscious Auto-Suggestion." "It is impossible for me to predict with certainty that this man will die Feb. 20 just because he has invoked it. But it is true that the auto-suggestive thought of death which he is constantly causing to shorten his life, by just how many days or years I cannot say. It is possible that his case is one of auto-suggestion. It is like the dog whose sore foot somebody bound in a cloth; the wound healed, but when he stepped on it again he was in pain. The mind controls the body; it is just as easy to imagine oneself sick as well, and probably as simple to imagine one is going to die, and actually die because of that thought, as to live."

DR. S. A. TANNENBAUM, noted psychoanalyst and psychologist: "Dr. Rouse's is undoubtedly a case of auto-suggestion. The outcome depends entirely on his susceptibility. If his obsession is strong enough, and his heart is weak, his obsession will kill him on the date he has set for his death. But if his heart is strong and healthy, this susceptibility will be greatly decreased and the suggestion will not work. Such a man might contribute to a result he might wish to bring about by starring himself for several days before the anti-ipated death. If his heart is constitutionally weak he might thus kill himself."

ELLA BOYCE KIRK, author of "My Pilgrimage to Coue." "This case is one of pure auto-suggestion. Dr. Rouse is constantly telling his conscious mind that he will probably die Feb. 20. The conscious mind is giving it to the subconscious mind, and the subconscious mind is recording it. Many cases have been known where this has been effective and the patient has died at the self-appointed time. If Dr. Rouse will take M. Coue's suggestion and repeat his formula he is sure not only not to die but possibly to live many years."

HEREWARD CARRINGTON, secretary, American Psychological Institute, and author "Death—Its Causes and Phenomena." "There is an old saying that the mind affects the body."

It is not really the mind, but the emotions that go along with the thought, operating either as a beneficial or destructive agency. Dr. Rouse's is a case of emotions being a destructive agency. Blooding and thinking about death cause the emotions to be so aroused as to influence the body. Emotions really create chemical substances, which can be either poisonous or beneficial. Dr. Elmer Gates of Washington proved this theory by experiments."

DEATH FATALISM NOT HIS BELIEF

BATH, Me., Feb. 12.—Dr. William Rouse, who has predicted his own death for Feb. 20, and has planned for funeral and bought deathbed gifts for his grandchildren, paradoxically is not a fatalist. Nor does he believe in a theory affecting the whole human race, of predetermination of death.

"Mine is an isolated case," he says. "The only reason I advance for expecting death 42 days before my 77th birthday is that physically and mentally I resemble my mother and grandfather, who, though perfectly healthy, died of the same sudden and mysterious malady at precisely that period in their lives."

Although considered one of the most learned men in Bath, Dr. Rouse makes no attempt to parallel his case with instances of predetermined death with which he is familiar in science, history and folklore.

Similar cases have been reported in the Orient. A notable story is that of Saami Vivenanda, the great Hindu philosopher, whose religious lectures stirred the United States nearly 30 years ago, and who died in India in 1902 on the day he told his pupils he would die.

Fredrick O'Brien, in his "White Shadows of the South Seas," tells of the death of the woman, Aunla, who predicted she would die and had her husband dig her grave and build her coffin.

"I am not a fatalist," said Dr. Rouse. "I am a believer in nature. Man is born to live and die by accident, disease or old age. I have always been prepared for death. As Feb. 20 approaches, I am going about my business as usual."

Gibbons has not yet replied to the offer.

STECKER AND PETERS TO MEET AGAIN IN 2 WEEKS

Young Stecker who enthused local wrestling fans on Friday night with his game effort with "Cyclone" Peters is not satisfied with the culmination of the bout which resulted in one fall for Peters after 57 minutes and a draw at the end of 70 minutes. He wants a return engagement with the Estonian wrestler and arrangements have been made for a new bout which will be held here two weeks from Friday.

Stecker said last night that there had been some misunderstanding as to the rules governing the contest. What he wants is a straight bout the winner to be determined by two falls out of three with no time limit. He wants to begin the bout at eight o'clock and eliminate the preliminary and to go through with the whole performance without the restrictions which were placed on the bout Friday night. Stecker made the further statement that he did not know that time would be called on him Friday and that at the moment the bout was concluded by the calling of time he had a grip on his opponent which he felt confident of bringing things definitely his way.

The mat fans who watched the evenly matched pair in their almost superhuman endeavors to win on Friday, will be interested to learn that there is to be another contest. Both men are in physical specimen know the game and furthermore are clean sportsmen. It was said last night that Peters was "game" for the second bout and that he was perfectly willing to accommodate his rival in a final determination of the drawn result of Friday night.

Rules for Wives Are Made Public

New York Legal Aid Organization Issues Hints for Happiness—Economy Is First Suggestion.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—That behavior of wives also has something to do with home happiness is conceded by the Legal Aid Society, which recently issued a decalogue for husbands.

Out of the wisdom acquired in bringing about 4,000 conferences in a year to secure domestic disarmament, the society today issued 10 rules for wives.

"Responsibility is fifty-fifty," admitted an official of the society, which is known as "The Poor Man's Lawyer."

Ten Rules Issued.

These are the rules:

1. Don't be extravagant. Nothing appeals more strongly to a man than the prospect of economic independence.
2. Keep your home clean. Nothing is more refreshing to a man than the sight of a well-kept home.
3. Do not permit your person to become unattractive. A slovenly wife makes a prudent husband suspicious and some are suspicious without cause. Do not supply the cause. Friendly attentions from others may be received in a spirit of perfect innocence. When reported by the busy-body they become distorted, often criminal.
4. Do not resent reasonable discipline of children by their father. Mothers should not assume that chastisement of a child by his father is severe and unjustifiable.
5. Do not spend too much time with your mother. You may easily in such way spend too little time at home.
6. Do not accept advice from the neighbors or even stress too greatly that of your own family. Think for yourself. Have a plan of your own for solution of home problems. In all cases consult freely with your husband.
7. Do not disparage your husband. Smile. Be attentive in little things. An indifferent wife is often supplanted by an ardent mistress.
8. Be tactful. Be feminine. Men in the last analysis are but overgrown children. They do not mind coaxing but they resent coercion. Femininity attracts and compels them. Masculinity in the female repels.

Insurance Against Unemployment Urged By Secretary Hoover

By Harry Hunt
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Insurance to protect workers against unemployment was urged by Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, in an exclusive interview with NEA Service here today.

The type of insurance advocated by Hoover would aim—

TO provide for wives and families of workers when they are "laid off."

TO stem the continual migration of workers from place to place.

TO benefit employers by enabling them to keep the same employees from year to year without losing efficiency by training new staffs after every industrial depression.

"Employees should be developed in the hands of mutual, non-governmental institutions," Hoover said.

"Most organized labor opposes government unemployment insurance. But I believe that as a voluntary insurance in mutual form, it could and would meet with approval just as all other rightly founded insurance has proved its worth."

"In what way would such insurance be provided?" I inquired. "Who would pay for premiums? What would be the approximate cost in proportion to wages?"

"The workers are not the only ones who suffer during depression of employment," Hoover answered. "There is a great loss to industry due to the scattering of workers. The average man out of a job does not idly wait for his job to open for him again. He seeks work. If he cannot find it in the city where he is, he looks elsewhere.

"As a result, organizations are disrupted. There is lost time and added expense in gathering new workers and fitting them into their jobs."

"This would be saved to the employer who had taken out employment insurance for his workers. During the period of slack employment he would be enabled to hold his force together."

"The insurance payments would be provided for men who had been laid off and their families, just as sickness or accident insurance would carry through a period of idleness or enforced through illness or accident."

"But wouldn't that be—at the start at least—expensive insurance?" Wouldn't the rate be experimental at first, probably high and tend to discourage employers from attempting it?"

"Some actual experience already exists in various countries. And even upon our own statistics of unemployment it could be given a sound actuarial basis if applied to large groups. It would be a mutual undertaking. I do not believe the cost would exceed 1 or 2 percent of the payroll."

"There are a great many employers who would today join in the cost of such insurance if it were undertaken. With great industrial groups united in a joint action, this would decrease and a great measure of security be established for employees."

"There is nothing that leads to such despair and decay of self-respect as being out of a job when a man wants work and when the support of his family is in jeopardy."

"Here remains a great field where insurance can be newly developed."

THIS QUADRUPLED AUTO WILL RUN AT 80 MILES AN HOUR

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Invention of an automobile equipped with four legs instead of wheels is claimed by James William Bryan, a Washington man, who says he has 40 patents, some of them basic, for such a machine. He has designed a five-passenger car of half the weight of wheeled models which, he says, expert engineers have declared feasible. Tests are now being made to determine possible weaknesses and errors of construction.

MILLIONS LOST DURING 1922 BY VIRGINIANS IN WORTHLESS STOCK

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 12.—Millions of dollars were lost by Virginia investors, through worthless stock in 1922, according to William Shands, Jr., director of the securities division of the State Corporation Commission. He said $200,000,000 lost through this medium in America last year, Virginia stands near the head of the list of heavy losers.

The "blue sky law" has done a great deal in curbing the activity of fly-by-night promoters, Mr. Shands says, but they still find Virginia a fertile ground for their schemes, and the state is inaugurating a "ruthless campaign against the sale of fake stock speculation within its borders."

"The purpose of the 'blue sky law' is not to prohibit the sale of speculative securities, but to insure a full disclosure of the enterprises in which they are sold," he said.

The term speculative includes securities issued by companies or individuals having in, or proposing to include in their assets something of intangible value, such as good-will, services, oil leases, mineral lands, etc., and those securities the commissions for the sale of which amounts to 7-1/2 percent or more.

Good Morning Judge!

A fine of twenty-five dollars and costs was imposed on Will Carver, colored, in the police court this morning on an alleged assault charge. The negro was arrested after he had entered the home of W. E. Myrick on North Union street and created much excitement by raising a disturbance with Myrick, during which he picked up a shot gun and drew it on him. Myrick also alleged that Carver threatened his life several times, while he had the weapon. Carver was arrested by Police Officer W. C. Talley, after a chase of several hundred yards.

Myrick testified that the negro entered his home, picked up the shot gun and demanded that he give him "six bits." On being refused the negro leveled the gun at Myrick, who says he grabbed the weapon and the two had a scuffle.

Carver denied the charge brought by Myrick as to the disturbance. He claimed that he was invited into the house and that he and Myrick consumed a pint of whiskey together.

John Gnatopolos drew a fine of $21 and costs for having a pistol on Sunday. A warrant against J. J. McEnith, charging him with an assault on Gnatopolos, was dismissed. John is alleged to have undertaken to collect a debt of $110 from McEnith by attempting to have his trunk held at a former boarding place. This resulted in the alleged fight after which John hurried to his store and procured a pistol.

Besides losing three quarts of high-grade whiskey, seized from him Friday by police officers, Theodore Hoffman was this morning assessed $50 and costs Hoffman claimed that he had a chance to buy some good whiskey, and that he purchased it for his own use and was on his way to his home in Charlotte when caught by officers Friday night.

As a result of a raid made at a local hotel this morning, several men were taken on Mapp Act violations and gambling charges. R. C. Rhoades submitted to charges against him and paid fines of $11 and costs on a whiskey charge and a similar fine for gambling. R. H. Adams also paid eleven dollars and costs for gaming.

Fines of eleven dollars and costs were this morning imposed on J. A. Dallas and F. E. Hight on Mapp Act charges. Officers testified they found three bottles of whiskey in the hotel room Dallas and Hight admitted drinking in but they placed the charge they were fined. They denied however that they had anything to do with the whiskey found in the room.

Boisterous and profane talking heard by police officers in the restaurant of the Brown and Haney street, resulted in the arrest of four men on disorderly conduct charges and one for being drunk. Claude Smith and M. W. Johnson were fined six dollars and costs for disorderly conduct and O. W. Warren drew the usual fine for being drunk. The charge against Albert Lynch was dismissed and Arch Pritchett was not present.

Anna Foy, colored, drew a fine of twenty-five dollars and costs for maintaining a disorderly and ill-governed house. Charges of gambling against H. S. Grant, E. P. Fulp and Herbert Spencer, the latter colored, were heard but they were not substantiated and the cases were dismissed. The trio were arrested at Anna Foy's house. Police officers testified that they heard the beds made but were unable to see the players themselves.

Rosa Houston, colored, drew a fine of $21 and costs for running a disorderly and ill-governed house in Opera House Alley.

Luck Smith colored withdrew a warrant against Sylvester Smith, charging him with an alleged assault on her, and she was made to pay the costs of the warrant which was $345.

Remember always there is a God and just God and if I have any regret for my short-comings in bringing up my family, it is that perhaps I did not urge greater attention to spiritual understanding. You understand, Sherrill that this is not said critically. My greatest pride in life has been in my family."

"But I wish you would say to the others for me, and say to the dear grandchildren that for their own good among their fellows they should devote some time to spiritual education. It is worth time and study. Time will come when they will need a comforter and if they have spiritual understanding it will help them. You will remember, to tell them, would you?" Three white youths were arrested early Sunday morning by Police officers, who found them in possession of a quantity of cigars, cigars, candy and about eight dollars in money. The men, Marvin Johnson, Henry Richardson and Johnnie Brown, were placed under arrest and are now held on robbery charges.

Walter M. Keown of Cambridge, attorney for Mohr, filed an appeal for a new trial with the Court of Errors after the Supreme Court refused to review the case.

This appeal will be argued next month, but Mr. Keown said yesterday the formal verdict of the physicians constituted new evidence, and he would apply immediately to Supreme Court Justice Kailach, who presided at the trial, for a new trial for Mohr.

Seven Masked Bandits Escape With $5,000 in Jewelry and Money After Killing Man in a Spectacular Raid.

(By The Associated Press.)
CHARLESTON, S. C., Feb. 12.—William Hope was shot dead in a spectacular raid by seven masked bandits on the Eagles Club early today. The men escaped with money and jewelry valued at $5,000. The authorities of three counties and the State police are searching the countryside for the gang. Eighteen men were sitting in the club after midnight about to leave for home when the gang dressed in black robes and black hoods and black robes walked into the room and ordered them to throw up their hands. Hope did not get his hands up as quickly as the others and one of the bandits shot him in the head. The Eagles were then ordered to sit down and while two of the bandits searched them, the others searched them and rifled the cash register.

Two Now Held On Boozie Charge
I. W. Walker was arrested early Sunday morning by police officers as a fugitive from justice from Martinsville where he is said to be wanted in connection with the capture of sixty-five gallons of whiskey several days ago. Percy Adams, arrested Saturday night in connection with the whiskey, is also being held for the Henry county authorities. The whiskey was captured in a car belonging to Adams, but the two men made their escape at the time.

John H. Davis Is Buried Near Purley
The funeral of John H. Davis, well known lumberman and farmer of the Purley, N. C. community, who died there on Saturday, was conducted on Sunday from Providence church, the service being unusually largely attended by people of that section.

Rev. Mr. Prevost, of Vanceville, N. C., conducted the service. Interment was made in the family burial ground at Providence. Mr. Davis was born at Riceville in this county February 16, 1849 but had lived in Purley for many years and had become well known in the surrounding communities.

He is survived by three daughters and two sons, Mrs. J. M. Pleasants of Purley, Mrs. S. T. Gatewood of King Store, and Miss Ada Davis of Purley, and J. S. Davis of Gatewood, and George T. Davis, of Bluff.

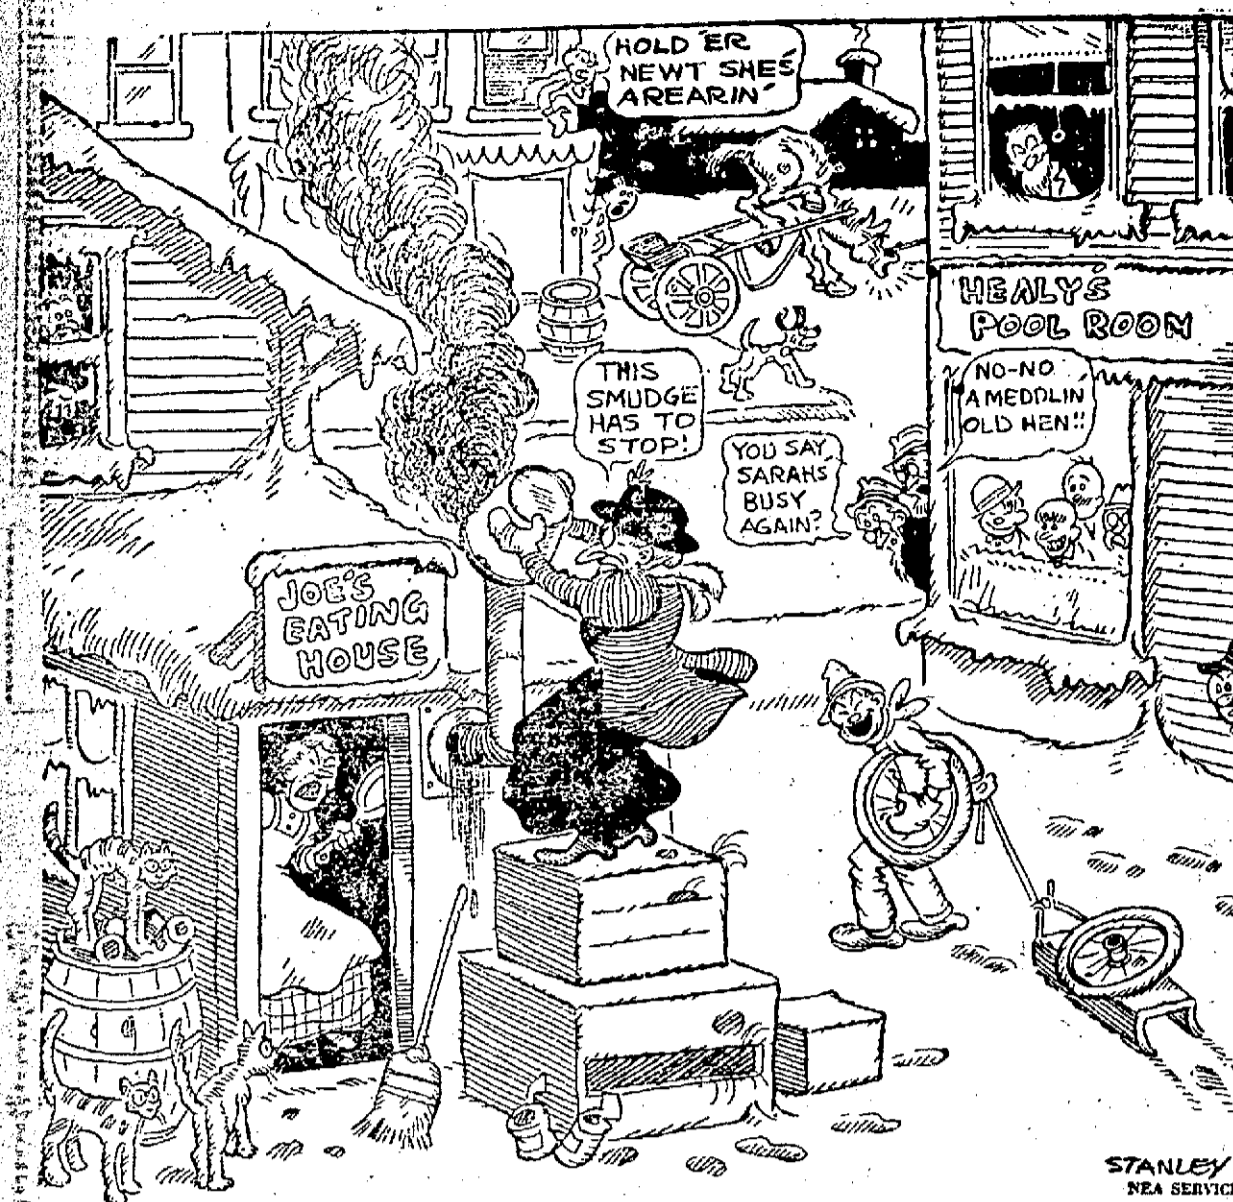

He also leaves two brothers, Stephen Davis, of Pittsylvania, and George Davis, of Danville county. The surviving sisters are Mrs. Charles Butts, Danville and Mrs. Bettie Womack of Halifax county.

The pall bearers at the funeral yesterday were T. H. Pleasants, Claude Hodges, R. T. Wilson, S. G. Woods, T. H. Hatchett and W. N. Ruffin. The flower bearers included Irvine Butts, W. A. McFarland, Frank Turner, J. H. Harrison, R. M. Pleasants, John Moorehead, Willie Turner, George Gunn and Lu Warren.

Clusters of narrow pleats are used on many spring frocks with three-piece suits. Pleated panels still droop below frock hems to give extra length. The models sketched are of wool jersey for young girls school and street wear.

The peasant sleeve is still highly favored.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

(Feb. 12, 1809—April 15, 1865)

By BERTON BRALEY

Always he saw himself as but a man;
A spirit moving in an earthly clod.
Always he held himself as of the clan
That heaves the wood and tills the stubborn sod;
He had the gift to vision and to plan
Simply and truly. All the ways he trod
Were humble, common ways; yet how we scan "Lincoln as one who came close unto God."
Man among men, railsplitter, servant, master,
Never he lost the simple human trait;
And thus he saved a nation from disaster,
Faithful in small things, ruler over great!
Walking by common ways at last to death,
Like that poor carpenter of Nazareth.

HOW TO BEAUTIFY THE HAIR

(Special to The Bee)
EVERY woman is at a particular advantage when it comes to beautifying her hair.
I wish it were as easy to remodel the features as it is to renew with life of the hair, and then every woman could be made as beautifully beautiful.
Many women are refusing to allow hopped hair to go out of fashion.
I think this is a very practical one especially the long, bob, and curled styles, which is also curled so that it may be dressed at night with the aid of an extra piece or so and can be worn high by tuffing it up in the back and adding a few shaped pins curling in the ends and allowing the rest to lie close to the head so that the rest of the head is very smooth.
While many authorities say this is passé I do not see anything for
it. I feel that anything that is so sensible and such a decided mark of beauty will not be discarded merely for fashion's whim.

One of the main principles of a well kept head is, of course, cleanliness. The other is proper dressing. For the first if you are inclined to have dandruff, get a good hair tonic and massage it busily into the scalp, stimulating the circulation of the blood. Then with the medication of the tonic the dandruff can be entirely exterminated.
If you curl the hair, I advise the use of brilliantine or oil. Oil, to prevent the ends from breaking.
If you have very oily, use a hair tonic with a very high per centage of alcohol which will remove the oily condition.
If the hair is very dry, use a tonic with a low percentage of alcohol and before shampooing rub in a little olive oil or olive oil.
In massaging the scalp it is a good thing to bend over as you are rubbing the head, allowing the blood to flow to the head. This assists in promoting the growth of the hair and relaxes the nerves, which is also helpful.

Rain Is Made to Fall at Will by Weird Experiment

Electrically Charged Grains
of Sand Also Make Storm Clouds to Fade Away.

DAYTON O., Feb. 11.—Rainfall has been caused and clouds have been made to disappear in a series of experiments which are being conducted here at McCook Field according to an announcement made today by the experimenters. Prof. Walter Dill Scott, professor of Cornell University, and L.
Francis Warren, the successful experiments were made with the co-operation of the army air service.

Results of the experiments were described as "absolutely phenomenal."
The experiments at the army air field in brief, the clouds were made to disappear and precipitate their moisture by the dropping of electrically charged grains of sand upon them from airplanes.

Prof. Dill Scott and Mr. Warren claim that the process will be of great value in the commercial world, as fogs over cities, harbors and flying fields can be made to disappear, thereby insuring safety to travel and transportation. They do not claim that in every instance rain or precipitation can be produced, as they say all clouds do not contain sufficient moisture. Some of the experiments demonstrated that while slight precipitation was caused this precipitation was evaporated before it reached the earth.

In payment for its co-operation during the tests, the army air service has been given the free use of the process, for which patents are pending, for the removal of mists and fogs over its flying fields.

The experiments have been in progress at McCook field here for the last year and a half, and will be continued at Mountville, W. Va., on the Washington-Danville air route, and at Washington, where fog conditions are more frequent and better than at Dayton.

In making the announcement of his successful experiments, Mr. Warren said that elaborate scientific research have shown that a particle of atmospheric moisture carrying an electric charge has a tendency to grow in size even under conditions so adverse to enlargement as to cause uncharged drops to evaporate. The theory being that the electric charge diminishes the surface tension of the drops and thus facilitates further condensation and coalescence.

In the experiments, a La Perre plane, carrying about 80 pounds of sand, of about 150 mesh, with a wind driven generator operating an electric equipment capable of charging the sand with 1,000 voltages either positively or negatively at the will of the operator, was employed. The sand was charged to approximately 1,000 volts, or a charge of the order of 9,000 electric static units per grain, and was scattered through the action of the plane propeller at a height of about 500 feet above the top of the clouds, the plane travelling at a rate of about 100 miles per hour.

The time taken to precipitate and destroy the clouds from the period of the first direct attack to the period of total disappearance, in each case, ranged from ten minutes and in several cases was less than five minutes, Mr. Warren said. He pointed out that the temperature and general climate conditions were variable, as shown by the months of the recorded experiments: April 15, June 25, July 15, August 1, August 5, Nov. 14 and other times, as shown by affidavits of air service officers and others.

The clouds dealt with, Mr. Warren said, varied in length and width from several thousand feet to several miles in thickness, from 500 feet to 1,000 feet, and partially for the most part of the nature of Cumulus and Stratus, or haze-like clouds which consist of fog in a horizontal stratum, all containing slight moisture which was quickly evaporated in the dry air below the clouds.
Some of the experiments, Mr. Warren said, were followed by snow fall or even the falling field, and light snowfall over the adjacent regions.
Warren said that the results of the definite locality, thereby producing quick results, will be employed for fogs and mists, Mr. Warren announced. Sand powdered to sizes that will fall by gravity slowly through the varying winds and be widely dispersed, will be employed for artificial rain-making. One or more tons of minute dust particles as fine or finer, than talcum powder and having trillions of particles per cubic centimeter that when scattered, will cover enormous areas, will be carried by a plane flying 70 or 80 miles per hour and liberated as a catalytic agent, at the rate of about 25 to 35 pounds per minute.

Mr. Warren explains that scientists claim that with free electrons in a mass of an electric electron attaches itself to a certain number of molecules and so forms a gas ion, upon which moisture condenses, thereby making a cloud particle. Should the velocity of the electrons be very great he said they will combine with the artificial charged particles (as he has been noted that their fall strongly electrified surrounding air) this will produce a so-called trigger action on forcing the electrical charge in the cloud to change from a static to a kinetic state, that will rapidly cause a flash over the whole clouded area from the spraying of only a few pounds of dust over a small part of a highly charged storm movement and force precipitation when the wet bulb conditions are favorable, over the dry sections where it is required in place of falling as it now does over oceans or large bodies of water where it is not required.

It was found in the experiments that wherever the charged particles of sand, in sufficient quantity, were released at the top of a cloud and the cloud was of opposite charge to the sand, a large hole, in a fraction of a minute, was made through the entire cloud from top to bottom.

No large scale attempts were made,
Mr. Warren said, at artificial rain-making with Nimbus Cumulus Nimbus or other heavy rain clouds as the experiments were solely directed at the removal of mists and fogs covering areas extensive enough to justify the Army Air Service in installing the process over one of its foggy flying fields.

He said that all heavy rainclouds are highly electrified and it was not deemed safe to deal with them with high voltages until measures were taken to guard against possible accidents to the pilots and planes.

At its Mountville, W. Va., field the Army Air Service proposes to employ a captive balloon, containing an electric equipment and anchored by cable to a truck. The balloon and equipment will keep the field and surrounding regions free from fog, and also serve as a beacon night and day during misty or foggy weather. At night the balloon will be illuminated, so that it may be seen by fliers, and the location of the open and free landing space determined.

In the above incomplete "word with the correct missing letters, and you will have four more words that also can be read two ways.

Yesterday's answer:
If a man can cut three loads of hay in a day, and can load six loads in the same time, he can cut and load two loads in a day. It takes him twice as long to cut, as to load, so he cuts for two-thirds of the day, and loads for one-third.

A Story of Mother Love

Divine—

A Picture That Will Live

Forever—

William Fox Presents

THE HILL"

From the Poem by Will Carleton

Its mostly sunshine, mostly smiles, but, like life itself, holds a tear for those who live and love.

WHAT WE THINK

To our mind this picture is absolutely the most absorbing drama ever presented in a theatre.
We realize how futile it is to pick amusement that will satisfy everybody. But "Over the Hill" is a picture for everybody.
Its appeal is so universal, so powerful, so human, and its characters so lifelike that we feel certain it will grip you as it has several millions of other every-day humans from all walks of life.
For one solid year twice daily, it competed with the most successful theatrical attractions in the very heart of the world's greatest amusement mart, and today its hold upon the public is stronger than when the picture was first displayed.
This is our chief reason for giving "Over the Hill" an unqualified endorsement without any reservations whatsoever.

Yours very truly,
J. C. HESTER, Manager.
